"I believe the purpose of my gift is to provide insights into the journey ahead of you and those who share your path.

We must remember that it is not the destination as much as the passageway we choose to travel, and the potential possibilities that lay ahead."

My Story

I have been intuitive since I can remember. I was born with a psychic veil (caul), which is a thin layer of skin over the eyes.

I believe I have always had the gift of sight. I remember when I was three years old that I pre-dreamt things that would later come to pass.

It wasn't until I was twelve that I learned the name for my gift - "psychic."

When I was fourteen, I met a woman who became my mentor. She was a reader and recognized that I also had the gift of intuition. She taught me how to trust the feelings I had when I met a stranger and saw their lives; past, present and future. She encouraged me to be who I was and not hide or be ashamed. My mentor did not teach me how to do readings. I don't believe I could be taught to be intuitive, but she taught me to trust the feelings I had.

When I started doing readings in my small Oregon hometown, it was a time when people still believed being a psychic was "the devil's work." I am glad we have come a long way since then.

At the age of eighteen I began reading for the public, starting out as a tea leaf reader in Rainer, Oregon, at the "1888 House." Over time I started reading poker cards.

I do not get information from the cards or the tea leaves themselves - they are the windows through which I receive insight. The challenge is translating those insights into a form my clients can understand.
